President’s Page

I hope you enjoy your Florida Engineering Society’s 2012 Annual Directory and Guide. It is one of the most valuable tools that FES provides our members.

If you’ve ever wondered what a particular committee, region or chapter does or who its members are, wonder no more. The information is located within these pages, along with contact information for each of our members, FES and FICE Bylaws and Charter, and details about NSPE, the Florida Board of Professional Engineers (FBPE), and the Florida Engineers Management Corporation (FEMC). You will also find out about all our six practice sections: Florida Institute of Consulting Engineers (FICE), Florida Professional Engineers in Government (FPEG), Florida Engineers in Construction (FECON), Florida Engineers in Education (FEE), Florida Professional Engineers in Industry (FPEI), and Florida Professional Engineers Retired (FPER). The Directory is truly a treasure-trove for each of our members.

Each year FES and its practice sections give awards to deserving engineers and engineering firms. If you want to know what it takes to nominate someone and what qualifications are required, please refer to the Directory and Guide. Each award is described and the criteria well-defined. You will also get to see who won the awards in 2010. There is nothing quite like being recognized by your peers for a job well done.

Don’t forget to check out the back of the Directory and Guide, where you will find, the Professional Services Guide—your next project team is only a few pages away.

The Directory and Guide is the best tool you have for sharing FES with others. When prospective members ask a hard question, all you have to do is look up the answer in this Directory and Guide. It makes it so easy to tell them all about our continuing education programs, legislative influence, networking opportunities, career and leadership development resources, and community involvement projects.

Don’t forget that information about the Society is also available at fleng.org. If you haven’t already visited our site please do, you will be amazed at what is available to you. You will find everything from your membership information, membership applications, calendars for upcoming events, and a wonderful link to our amazing K-12 program.

Thank you for allowing me to represent our noble profession for the 2011 administrative year. We have a lot of work to do and I appreciate each and every one of you and the effort you put forth to make FES the successful organization that it is.
